

Postgraduate Certificate in Dialectical Behaviour Therapy

Validated for admission in 2015 by Bangor University

The PG Cert in DBT is designed to help practitioners either currently learning DBT on an Intensive Training course or who have previously completed the Intensive Training to develop both their theoretical grasp of the treatment and to advance their clinical application of the treatment at both the level of their programme and the individual clinical case.

The PG certificate has two modules.

- PHP4200 Theories and Principles of DBT (40 contact hours - Intensive Part I) develops skills in understanding the theoretical underpinnings of the treatment and how to apply these principles in analysing problem behaviours.
- PHP4201 Clinical Applications of DBT (40 contact hours - Intensive Part II) , develops skills from the first module in treating a case using the treatment and also in applying the treatment in different modalities of practitioners' DBT programmes.

Students also have the opportunity to apply the treatment to themselves by analysing one of their own therapy interfering behaviours using the principles of the treatment!

“The PgCert has been invaluable in accelerating the learning surrounding DBT. People find it really worthwhile and really appreciate it.” PG Cert Student 2010

Learning Assignments

Formative Assignments: DBT Exam (self-assessment examination in DBT between Part I and Part II) and initial submission of DBT implementation log (receives written feedback).

PHP4200: One written chain analysis (1500 words) and one essay (3000 words) on theoretical foundations of the treatment.

PHP4201: final submission of DBT implementation log and one practical/clinical exercise on your own therapy-interfering behaviour (1500 words) and one written case presentation including critical appraisal (3000 words)

“Undertaking the post graduate certificate has dramatically increased my understanding of DBT and my ability to apply it in practice” PG Cert Student 2010
